is the set of local variables of a procedure. Everything would be popped off f from